First day of hunting! (spring gobblers, that is) and Robert (Bobby) Clifton bagged a twenty-pound, five ounce turkey Saturday. He got up before five a.m. and like many other turkey hunters say there is nothing quite like the sight of a big gobbler pounding down a forest path answering a hunter's turkey call. His family and friends it appears there will be a delicious turkey dinner!

Most families are busy getting their gardens in shape. Boyd Friend, Ernest Rogers, set out tomatoes the first week in April.

Beans are probably the favorite vegetable. There is no bean that's edible and also ornamental value, this is the Scarlet Runner. Give it something to run on and it produces beautiful red pods.

The first time that I observed this bean being grown was several years ago by Miss Annie Alvis.

Thinking of buying a home? Then consider these "rules of thumb." Pay no more than two and a half times your annual income. A month's house payment should not exceed a week's pay, or between 20 and 25 per cent of your monthly income. A week's pay should equal one per cent of the price of the house.

We're still receiving numerous calls about clover mites in the home. They can be controlled by using Diazinon on the window and door openings. Pick up a publication "Controlling Household Insects" from your office.

Dairymen generally tend to overestimate the quality of forage they are feeding. They don't need to. Testing services are available, or charge. Forage nutrient for lactating cows are affected by both the amount and quality of the forage.

Actually, quantity consumption is most important. It is common that a 10% reduction in forage quality, as measured in terms of total digestible nutrients, causes a 20% reduction in forage consumption a net loss of about 10% in dry consumption. Testing will make a big difference in Appomattox County dollars when they are used in feeding it.

'Aussie' Visits Appomattox

David Bradbury, of Sydney, Australia, is spending five months in the USA, including a recent two-day stay at Appomattox touring the National Park here. With his large sign "Australia to USA" he hitchhikes from city to city and (above) was ready to leave Caldwell's Motel for Charlottesville on Friday. He is a teacher of English literature in Australia, has visited 26 states in the US and 13 other countries. He plans to go next to Europe. He speaks highly of the beautiful National Parks here and the fact that it has not been "commercialized." He had already heard about Appomattox County's sourwood honey, and was hoping to sample some before leaving the county. County honey producers might want to ship him a sample! He'll be in New York for a while before departing for Europe and further travels. He says that in the U.S. he never has to wait more than 15 minutes to "get a ride."

In a three year study of 100 factors affecting corn yield in North Carolina nine factors explained 75% of the yield differences.

We're right on top of corn planting so don't let these factors limit your yield. They are in declining importance: soil moisture, earliness of planting, acidity of the topsoil, availability of phosphorus, pounds of applied nitrogen, acidity of the subsoil, pounds of applied potassium, and presence of hardpan under the plow layer.

You control seven of the nine factors; therefore, it becomes a matter of management whether your corn yield is significantly affected.

The gypsy moth has become a serious threat to the hardwood forests in eight Northeastern states. In 1968 defoliation covered 80,000 acres. The USDA estimates the 1970 acreage at 800,000 acres. Gypsy moth is a recently been found in Virginia. We are interested in learning of insect activity on hardwood trees in this county.

Tri-Hi-Y Has Many Projects

The Senior Tri-Hi-Y of Appomattox County High School has participated in community and school activities this year.

In September, members of the club helped the Rescue Squad with door to door collections for their fund drive. During the Thanksgiving holidays, the Tri-Hi - Y members sponsored a party which was given to the children at Miller's Home.

In November, the club was responsible for the cleaning of the school trophy case, and during Homecoming Week promoted good sportsmanship through posters and school - wide announcements.

National Hi-Y week was observed in November. Club members wore tags that briefly described Hi-Y purposes. Posters were also made and displayed throughout the school. At the February P.T.A. meeting, the Senior Tri-Hi-Y presented devotions and a short program on the Tri-Hi-Y purposes and activities.

Friday, April 9, the club held a bake sale. We wish to thank the community and especially those who participated for your support.

'Keen Eye' Gets Gobbler

Willie Watson (center) killed this twenty-pound gobbler early Monday morning! The gobbler has a 10 inch "beard" and his companions, Leonard C. Garrett (left) and his son Teddy (far right) report that this gobbler "came on rather cautiously" after he heard the "snap" of Watson's gun safety. They also have a new name for Willie Watson — "Keen Eye" for bringing down such a nice bird while most of us were dozing or getting ready for the "Monday morning blues."
